

*What, to the American slave, is your 4th of July?
I answer, that to him, more than all other days in the year, it is the anniversary of the birth of a new world of liberty, an undermining of the old one. I am glad, therefore, to see that your celebration is a sham; your boasted liberty, an unjustified impudence; your hypocritical philanthropy, your pretended concern for the oppressed,
a rank hypocrisy.*

The Words of

Frederick Douglass

He had Lincoln's ear,
now lend him yours.

Join us for a public reading of Douglass' famous Fourth of July address.

WHEN

Monday, July 4, 2016

12:00 noon

WHERE

Carrboro Century Center

100 N. Greensboro St.

Carrboro, NC 27510

Sponsors

massHUMANITIES
A Commonwealth of Ideas

Find out more about the Reading Frederick Douglass statewide collaboration at masshumanities.org